Year of the Snake - 9 Feb 2013

Welcome friends to a year that will change everything. The snake brings many things but this year will see it slide through all aspects of worldly living and wipe away illusion. The snake is a great one for hiding in the long grass and not being seen, but it does this with stealth and purpose. When snake sees it being done from denial or ego it will strike and bring about an awareness.

Don't be afraid of snake for he is your friend. He does not go in straight lines but gracefully slides from side to side finding the best path through all things. This snake can help you with. The way forward is not always a straight line or indeed the way you think but snake will know. Like water nothing stands in the way of snake. That power of purpose is yours to connect to but do so with an open heart for snake does not like ego or false intentions.

Finally, a snake sheds its skin to reveal the new beauty beneath. The masks and illusions humanity has are stopping many from finding themselves and connecting to the truth of their existence. Snake will help you shed these layers of falsehood around you, if you let him. Embrace the Year of the Snake and reveal your hidden beauty and depth.

Blessings, Chou
